THE STAFF
AT WORK

There are some people who have such vibrating and outstanding personalities that those who come in contact with them immediately respect and admire them.

This is true of Seth A. Fessenden, our dramatic coach and speech instructor.

Because of his exceptional ability in coaching dramatics, along with a surprising amount of energy, our school has taken great strides in the field of dramatics. It is now a member of the National Thespian Dramatic Society.

Whenever clever ideas are needed, or achievements perfected, the students usually seek their friend, Mr. Fessenden.

Thus we take pleasure in dedicating the DIAL of nineteen hundred thirty-seven to Seth A. Fessenden.

A Tribute

Here is a scholar as well as a teacher.

Our dramatic coach is quite an actor himself.

Act 1

"And gladly wolde he lerne;
and gladly teche."

The Administration

BOARD OF EDUCATION

Every institution has an organization of its own to suit its own particular needs. Our organization is similar to that of the present democratic government which is composed of three bodies: legislative, executive, and judiciary. Our board of education acts as the legislative body, the principal with his departmental assistants act as the executive body, and interested parents serve as the judiciary body.

Under the guidance of the present board of education our school has achieved many things. The board has made possible one of the greatest achievements any school could have, a new gymnasium. Ours is the finest and best equipped in Southern Illinois. It has made possible the active participation of many students in athletics and physical education. This they have greatly appreciated.

We, the class of nineteen hundred thirty-seven, who have enjoyed but one year of the new gymnasium, wish to express our deepest appreciation for the sincere and untiring efforts of the Board of Education of the Carbondale Community High School.

PRINCIPAL J. H. KETRING, B. Pd., A. B., A. M.
Lincoln Jefferson University, Manchester College, Washington University

Mr. Ketring, our principal, is truly a man of industry. He has the qualities which mark all good principals—an unceasing desire for improvements within his school, and greater than that, a desire that each individual student may have a well-rounded education. It is this personal feeling for each student that incites the student body to appreciate and to have confidence in their principal.

We will never forget his influence in making our new gymnasium a reality and not just a dream.

JOANN BROOKS.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Achievements! These are things which make life worth while. It is no difficult matter to point out accomplishments made by our school during the school year 1936-37.

Our new $60,000 gymnasium is certainly something of which to be proud.

The football field has been improved by the installation of floodlights and the transplanting of Bermuda grass sod on the playing field. New equipment has been added to the athletic department. The football boys, evidently, to show their appreciation of these improvements, again came forth for the third consecutive year as conference champions. Our basketball team, spurred on by the victory of the gridiron, came forth with a conference championship.

The curriculum has been increased by the addition of three new courses: English grammar, additional physical education courses, and home economics. With the addition of home economics a new faculty member has been added, Miss Oliver.

One hundred fifty new books have been added to the library and necessary school books have been made available to the students by a rental system; this we greatly appreciated.

We were fortunate in having a bigger and better school band.

It was no little honor to belong to the National Thespian Dramatic Society. Nine of our students in the Dramatic Club became members of the organization.

Many students have been gratified in their desire to have more school dances. The privilege has been extended so that many practice dances have been held.

The publication of the DIAL was important because its purpose was to preserve all these accomplishments.

VALUES

Four years of high school offer boys and girls the rare chance for a dedication of themselves to a search for values that endure. What are the things worth anchoring to? Let us see. Language offers conveyance for the expression of ideas which mathematics demands to be expressed with logical precision. Science lifts her veil of knowledge to acquaint us with her marvelous secrets. History gives poise in balancing man's progress against his blunders. Literature, superficial though our adventures may be, sharpens the wits and strengthens the judgment in unmasking the whims and caprices of man as he runs the gamut of human emotions in his search for or rejection of the noble ideal.

Good officers are essential to the well-organized class. A class without a president is like a ship without a captain.

The president's duty, along with the other class officers, lies in executing class projects.

Often the presidents must use tact in preserving harmony among the students.

From all indications the students of the four classes have certainly shown confidence in the presidents which they have chosen. Likewise, the presidents have sincerely respected this confidence.

HISTORY

Although the senior class has been a small one, the students comprising it have certainly made up for the deficiency in numbers.

All through our high school careers we have been outstanding in scholastic records, music, dramatics, and athletics.

Among the outstanding accomplishments which have been undertaken were the publishing of the DIAL, the sponsoring of an all-school dance, and, last but not least, the staging of the annual senior play. We've continually been represented in the field of journalism through the publications of the MONITOR and DIAL.

It was our sincere wish that we have left a lasting impression of a class which had given as many worthwhile things to the school as the school has returned to us.

The officers were as follows:

President .... Robert Brooks

Vice-president .... James Cherry

Secretary-treasurer .... Joann Brooks

Assistant Secretary-treasurer .... Bill Morefield

SENIOR CLASS PROPHESY

One day, not long ago, I wandered into a small bookstore on one of the slum streets of New York. As I fingered the musty old volumes, my eye caught an old relic on one of the shelves entitled "High School Memories" by William C. Etherton. As I had known him in my high school days, I read with growing amazement. He mentioned many of our classmates.

I learned that Robert Brooks became a preacher and brought many sinners to the mourner's bench among whom were Carl Parrish and Eugene Smith.

James Cherry, who had starred as "Tarzan" at one time, became so in love with the part, that he tried to live a similar life in South Africa. He stayed about a month.

Dean Albon, William Morefield, and James West were models in the Men's department at Marshall Field's Store and Mary Margaret Ogden and Mildred McCoy are clerks in the other departments.

Ruth Bernice Brooks, while journeying across the Sahara with Maxine Findlay, Virginia Lee Bass, and Louise Hall was kidnaped by a white-robed sheik.

Vernetta Hughes lived alone in the heart of the great city—she amused herself by taking in all the thrilling serials.

Margaret Lou Wiley, Dorothy Hanson, Blanche Clifford, and Helen Pulley have devoted their lives to the study of the "Evils of the Cigarette."

Jewell Vaughn and Marguerite Hopper chose matrimony and a life in the home.

Eva Jane Milligan and Virginia Schonhoff lived in the South Sea Islands—teaching etiquette to the cannibals. They taught them how to carve and to eat the delicate parts of tender, young Americans who wander down there in search of adventure.

Mary C. Taylor studied Sears and Roebuck's catalogue for a month and decided to become a dress designer—she was recognized as a great boon to American women.

The Henderson twins were employed at Scotts' air-field to give private lessons to the air-minded.

Kenneth Burger, Leo Robinson, and Arthur Prater were well-known gangsters of the underworld.

Charles Hall and Franklin McMillan, who were stars in Latin, took a trip to Rome and it took them so long to tell the guide they wanted something to eat that they starved to death.

Celia Crews, Millie Glenn, and Virginia Kell were located on a large kangaroo ranch in Australia teaching young kangaroos to jump.

William Hopper and Glennon Menteer were employed in the American Pickle Factory located at Makanda, Illinois.

Ward Riley was the leading chemist in the United States. His latest achievement was changing water to wine.

Bill Patterson was dance instructor and entertainer at the All-Night Dance Club at Cave-in-Rock.

Dorothy Shackleton was a very popular crystal gazer and palm reader with headquarters at DeSoto.

Willie Ruth Land was chief secretary for the President of the United States—the only trouble, she claims, is that there is no room for advancement.

Pearl Knight and Dora Owens established a school in Korea to enlighten the heathens.

Ruby Lee Tomlinson was The Great Singing Evangelist. She is known from coast to coast.

James Montgomery and Herbert Mueller were traveling with Ringling Brothers Circus.

Glenn Odum and Herbert Smith together operated a first class barber shop in South Africa.

Virginia Whitacre was writing poetry for the ATLANTIC MONTHLY.

Eddie Rogers was manager of the Metropolitan Opera Company.

Evelyn Ragsdale and Letha Settlemoir were teachers—devoting their spare time to the painting of window blinds for bird houses.

Jane Snyder was foreign missionary in the wilds of Chicago.

Katherine Simons and Caroline Snider were teachers in the Makanda Academy.

Carl White and Charles Tippet were noted motion picture producers.

SENIOR WILL

We, the senior class of 1937 of the Carbondale Community High School, believing ourselves to be of sane mind and good judgment—having not been proved otherwise—do, make, publish, and declare this, our last will and testament.

We bequeath as follows:

To the juniors, we leave the leadership of dear old C. C. H. S. and, also, unpaid debts, with the request that they be looked after immediately.

To the sophomores, hopes that they too, may become seniors some day.

To the freshmen, we leave all our blunders as well as dignity and a wish for their improvements in morals and in manners.

To the three janitors, we leave numerous indelible footprints made from sliding in the halls.

Dean Albon leaves his "corners-on-two-wheels" to James Chandler.

Virginia Lee Bass wills her very capable editorship to whomsoever proves fit.

Joann Brooks wills her interests in school affairs to Harry Marberry.

Bob Brooks wills his eye-for-the-basket to William Townes.

R. B. Brooks wills her interests "up-state" to Helen Hall.

James Cherry wills his unforgetable physique and technique to George Baysinger.

Blanch Rose Clifford wills her winter vacations to anyone who can get away with them.

Celia Crews leaves her homemaking ability to Lillian McGowan.

Bill Etherton wills his gift of gab to Edwin Thrailkill.

Maxine Findlay leaves her pretty black hair to Betty Entsminger.

Rosemary Gholson leaves her gracefulness on the dance floor to Gordon Plater.

La Dean Martin leaves her attractive sense of humor to Alyne Brennen.

Mildred McCoy leaves her quietness of manner to Virginia Taggart.

Eva Jane Milligan wills her outstanding accomplishments of the class of '37 to Mary Gordon.

James Montgomery leaves his arguments-with-the-teachers to Dorothy Reeder.

Bill Morefield wills his American History book to anyone who can take it.

Herbert Mueller wills his assembly seat to another "fellow sufferer."

Glenn Odom leaves his manly height to Jack Bass.

Margaret Ogden leaves her reducing exercises to any girl who is trying to keep the waist line down.

Dora Owens leaves her quiet personality to Dorothy Culley.

Carl Parrish leaves his way-with-the-teachers to "Smoky Joe" Whalen.

George Patterson wills his bashfulness to Gordon Lindsey.

Bill Patterson wills his "swinging craze" to Lyle Rapp.

Arthur Prater leaves his contributions to American History class to Pat Wiehe.

Helen Pulley wills her sweet disposition to Helen Perry.

Eddie Rogers wills his music ability to James Marberry.

Virginia Schonhoff wills her knitting accomplishments to Charles Hamilton.

Dorothy Shackleton leaves her love for sewing to Elizabeth Phillips.

Caroline Snider wills her excess weight to Betty Jo Burgess.

Bill Spiller wills his "drawl" to Wayne Hanson.

Mary Taylor wills her longing-for-the-daily-mail to Maxine Tarrant.

Millie Glenn wills her pleasant ways to Harriet Barkley.

Charles Hall wills his speedy trip through high school to Virginia Brewer.

Louise Hall leaves her well-trained giggle to Mildred Lindsay.

Edwin Henderson wills his "artistic mind" to Addison Hayse.

Raymond Henderson wills his brilliant hair to Gene Seibert.

Max Hill leaves his political knowledge to anyone having nerve enough to express it.

Marguerite Hopper wills her winning way to those seeking husbands.

Vernetta Hughes wills her ability to sell tickets to the teachers to anyone that cares to risk their credit.

Virginia Kell wills her blonde hair to Thelma Walker.

Pearl Knight wills her quietness to Norma Kennedy.

Willie Ruth Land wills her repartee to whatever person can use it safely in the speech class next year.

Ted Ludwig wills his band uniform to Cecil Bell.

Ruby Lee Tomlinson wills her vocal career to Agnes Maze.

Jewell Vaughn leaves her pull with Miss Oliver to Mary Marie Lewis.

Virginia Whitacre wills her poetic mind to Betty Spangler.

James West wills his fifth-hour-recreation-hall to Wilburn Lipe.

Margaret L. Wiley wills her weakness for school athletics to Mary Gilbert.

Kenneth Burger wills his lengthy stay in high school to Arthur Logue.

Dorothy Hanson wills her drawling accents to Blanche Glotfelty.

Glennon Menteer wills his book-keeping ability to Betty Stevenson.

Franklin McMillan leaves his spectacular dancing to Henry Lutz.

Evelyn Ragsdale wills her boisterousness to Roberta Koonce.

Ward Riley wills his passion for blondes to Clyde Harris.

Leo Robinson wills his daily recitations to Randall Parrish.

Letha Settlemoire wills her 500 acres on the south hard road to whomever likes the open spaces.

Katherine Simons wills her desire to attend Lindenwood College to Frances Menteer.

James Sterns wills his robust physique to Donald Miller.

Carl White wills his curly hair to Lloyd Neal.

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

When the class of nineteen hundred thirty-eight returned to the Carbondale Community High School for their entrance as juniors, they faced the variety of tasks always set before them as a junior class.

To guide them through the hazardous adventures, the following capable officers were chosen:

William Townes .... President
Scott Gill .... Vice-president
Harry Marberry .... Secretary
Jack Bass .... Treasurer

One of these tasks was getting enough money for the Junior-Senior "prom." Led by these officers, this money was obtained by "hot dog" sales, the carnival, and the proceeds from the junior play.

When the call for football players echoed through the corridors, the boys of the class moved almost as one man to the recruiting station. Nearly all made the squad but the names of "Dutch" Lutz, "Pinkey" Hunsaker, "Bud" Allen, "Susie" Ellis, "Little Willie" Harrell, Charles Frey, Harry Keller, "Pansy" Neal, Max Hill, Scott Gill, Gene Crawshaw, and Verdie Cox, will long be remembered as members or substitutes for the varsity eleven and all will be back next year to make football history for Carbondale Community High School.

Seven out of the nine men on the first squad of Mr. Allen's "basketeers" were members of our own class. The boys who could not quite make the grade in major athletics did not remain idle but played class basketball or softball in their spare time.

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

We, the sophomores, have almost completed our scene on the exciting stage of 1936-37. We had as our directors, Miss Brubaker and Mr. DeVore.

The first act in our play consisted of the presentation of ourselves in our new roles as registrants. We then thoroughly established ourselves in our new classes. We chose as our leading characters, Catherine Kemper, Allan Tuegel, and Mildred Fly.

The second act was introduced by the amazing ability of our sophomores shown in the operetta and Dramatic Club plays. This act was climaxed by some of our members being chosen to represent our class on the MONITOR and DIAL Staffs. For the MONITOR, Anna Mae Stanley, Betty Jo Burgess, John Ellis, George Baysinger, and Charles Hamilton were chosen. Jewell Deniston was made the sophomore editor on the DIAL Staff.

The third act of our play was led by our football and basketball boys; some played on the regular teams.

At intervals during our sophomore year we endured those semesters examinations. We are proud to say that we had among our members several who were exempted from the examinations.

FRESHMAN CLASS HISTORY

We, the freshman of the Carbondale Community High School have just begun to settle down to the manner and to the customs of the school.

Near the first of the term we held a meeting and elected the following officers:

President ..... Wayne Hanson
Vice-president ..... Rodger Spears
Secretary ..... Herbert Townes
Treasurer ..... Alyne Brennan

We have talented students in our class and find them in various organizations and in sports.

The freshmen helped to sponsor the Valentine Dance and made a success of it, and thus, placed a few dollars in our treasury.

We were all proud that everyone took part in making it one of the best dances held.

Miss Lassiter and Mr. Fessenden are doing an excellent piece of work as the sponsors of our class. They have called several meetings and we have discussed important matters.

We wish greater success to the green freshmen next year.

Under the able sponsorship of Mr. Draper and editorship of Virginia Lee Bass, the MONITOR Staff has completed a year's successful work. At the end of each month we found in the corridors and various rooms a group of students huddled around the MONITOR. In it they found the news and scandal of the month.

Although many times it called for a large portion of work outside of school hours, our MONITOR was always complete and out on time.

Many of our prospective poets and playwrights had their start in the MONITOR. Our athletic department, music department, and dramatic department each had their place in the paper.

May the students of tomorrow, too, have the privilege of publishing and reading such a complete summary of school activities.

THE MATHEMATICS CLUB

The Mathematics Club was organized for the benefit of those students who had successfully completed one year's work in a mathematics course and wished to make more extensive study of this subject.

At their first meeting under the sponsorship of Mr. DeVore, they elected their officers for the year. They were the following:

President .... Mildred Eason
Vice-president .... Zidania Ogden
Secretary-treasurer .... Caroline Snider

In their meeting this year they have learned much concerning the history and practical application of the principles of mathematics.

THE SENIOR HI-TRI

Last spring the entire Hi-Tri membership of the school met and elected their executive board for the following year. On this board there were three seniors. The officers they elected included the following:

President .... Eva Jane Milligan
Vice-president .... Virginia Lee Bass
Secretary .... Thelma Walker
Treasurer .... Joann Brooks

These officers have presided over the general meetings. Near the last of October the first meeting was called by the sponsor, Miss Morgan. The officers were elected and a text book chosen for discussion. The officers were the following:

President .... Louise Hall
Vice-president .... LaDean Martin
Secretary-treasurer .... Virginia Schonhoff

The senior Hi-Tri manual was used as the text for discussion.

Secretary-treasurer .... Elizabeth Phillips

These girls have used the junior Hi-Tri manual as a basis for their discussions. The discussions were led by different girls in the group. The meetings often proved very interesting.

This group of girls proved to be too many for one group and was therefore divided into two groups with two sets of officers and different meeting days. They had the same sponsor, Miss Brubaker, and since both groups used the sophomore Hi-Tri manuals their discussions ran along the same lines.

The officers for these two groups were:

Presidents .... Dorothy Culley, Mary Ellen Mangum
Vice-presidents, ... Catherine Farley, Dorothy Watson
Secretary-treasurers, Corrine Dennison, Jean Marie Ghent

These groups have done work of which they should be proud.

HI-TRI

Among our extra-curricular activities we had clubs other than those pictured. This group has shown great enthusiasm in their work and were outstanding Hi-Tri workers in our school.

LIBRARY STAFF

Our librarian, Miss Lassiter, chose her staff at the beginning of each semester to assist with the shelving and distribution of books. There has been a large number of new books added to our library. The school also purchased a set of steel book-shelves for our reference books.

RADIO CLUB

Mr. Goings, who sponsored the Radio Club, deserves much credit for the progress and knowledge which has been developed in the minds of the club members concerning this field of work. They have also attempted to learn the code so that it would be possible for them to send and receive messages.

OUR DIRECTORS

We were exceedingly proud of our directors in dramatics and music. Each was a master in his field.

Under Mr. Calhoun's direction, two musical productions were given, namely, the operetta and Easter Cantata. He also had under his direction a band and a theatre orchestra—which has recently replaced the regular orchestra.

Mr. Fessenden also had a full program. He has been supervising a series of one-act plays for the purpose of giving numerous students practice in directing, producing, and acting. Mr. Fessenden had the directorship of the acting in the operetta, the junior play and senior play. Also under his direction, a group of students were admitted into the National Thespian Honorary Society which marks a decided advancement in the field of dramatics for the high school.

SENIOR PLAY
OF 1936

EYES OF TLALOC

The senior play was distinctly different from the usual type of high school plays. The talented players who participated created the mystical atmosphere which made the play the success which it was.

The stage setting required in making it the artistic ability of several artists and the mechanical ingenuity of a good director and his many willing assistants.

The characters were the following:

Amanda Simpkins (a New Englander) Lois Edmonson
Ezra Simpkins .... James Johnson
Pudge Rogers .... Eugene Rendleman
The Professors .... Charles Pardee
Tommy Tucker .... James Harrington
Nancy Howe .... Betty Lou Morris
Virginia Lee Byrd .... Helen Nauman

JUNIOR PLAY
OF 1937

HEART TROUBLE

The junior play was the best comedy presented on the stage of the high school for several years. Much new talent was discovered. The ability of our juniors for acting was very commendable.

The members of the cast were the following:

Mrs. Morrison, a socially ambitious mother .... Imogene Farner

Junior Morrison, a typical Tarkington boy .... Tom Easterly

Patricia Morrison, a modern Cinderella .... Maxine Tarrant

Laura Morrison, a young social climber .... Alice Marberry

Conrad Tyler, a smooth-tongued golf professional, Harry Keller

Fred Morrison, ordinary husband and father .... Max Hill

Lenore Appleby, unspoiled daughter of wealth.... Shirley Kucher

Tommy Coler, a handsome drug clerk .... Scott Gill

Jethro Appleby, a main street banker .... Robert Allen

Beatrice Tyler, a shrewish wife .... Virginia Brewer

THE DRAMATIC CLUB

The Dramatic Club has stepped into the spot light this year with an increased membership and new equipment.

The Dramatic Club has become the foundation for all activities wherein decorations were needed. The club was given all the extra supplies which were left over from other productions, thereby accumulating quite a large collection of supplies. The club is given ten per cent of the receipts from plays for which they design and construct the stage.

In addition to its stage work, the club staged several groups of one-act plays which were directed by students. This gave everyone a chance to gain ten points which were necessary to become a Master.

This year the club had reached a new goal by being eligible to join the National Thespian Society. Virginia Whitacre was the President.

The Dramatic Club was under the able leadership of Eva Jane Milligan as President, Ruby Lee Tomlinson as Vice-president, and Mary Alice Gordon as Secretary-treasurer.

THE DEBATING TEAM

The Debating Team, a school organization, which does not get all the credit it deserves, has progressed as debators through their quick thinking in rebuttals, in their excellent construction speeches, and in the presentation of their speeches.

The required subject which they debated this year was—Resolved:—"That all electric utilities should be governmentally owned and operated."

Those on the affirmative side were Eva Jane Milligan and Max Hill; those on the negative were William Townes and Harry Keller with Harry Marberry as substitute.

In the first meet our affirmative team lost a close decision to the negative team of Elkville. Meets were scheduled with Eldorado and other towns around. The team certainly has shown promises of being able to compete successfully in the state contests.

H. M. S. PINAFORE

Mr. Calhoun was very ambitious this year. In trying to decide on an operetta, he picked the very difficult "Pinafore." It was a production which could only be put on by capable and experienced actors and actresses. The cast was backed by a strong chorus which was an essential feature of this operetta.

The seniors were well represented in the cast, having Bill Etherton, Bill Patterson,, Ruby Lee Tomlinson, and Teddy Ludwig in the leads. Louise Maze and William Townes from the junior class proved themselves to be capable of carrying their leads like troupers.

The operetta was given two nights and was an immense success.

BAND

Our band with its thirty-four members was considered the largest and best band the school has had for several years.

The band traveled quite extensively. It went to Giant City to play for the dedication of the Giant City Lodge. On other occasions it went to Herrin, Murphysboro, and Pinckneyville. The band also played at all home games.

For the last two years the band placed in the second division of the district contest.

They entered the state band contest which was held April 2 and 3. The soloists were Eddie Rogers, clarionet; Teddie Ludwig, tuba; Gene Marie Ghent, piano; and Edwin Thrailkill, xylophone.

The band has had to take the place of the orchestra on general occasions and has filled the absence well.

BAND

OTHER ACTIVITIES

This year the regular school orchestra was disbanded and in its place there was organized a theatre orchestra of select musicians to play for plays and school activities which require the use of an orchestra.

The Dramatic Club undertook many new activities this year. Groups of one-act plays were given, directed and produced by students. The first group of plays which were presented in December were "The Ring and the Look," directed by Bill Patterson; "Twilight Saint," directed by Vernetta Hughes. The second group of plays which were presented in April was "The Villian Still Pursued Her," directed by Margaret Lou Wiley; "Words and Music by Pierrot," directed by Virginia Whitacre; and "Riders of the Sea," directed by Eva Jane Milligan. Two Shakespearian skits, which were taken from "Two Gentleman From Verona" were directed and given in April by Ruby Lee Tomlinson. The members of the Dramatic Club who attained the rank of master automatically became eligible to join The National Thespians. The following were admitted to membership: Virginia Nell Whitacre, Eva Jane Milligan, Ruby Lee Tomlinson, Bill Patterson, Vernetta Hughes, Margaret Lou Wiley, Arthur Logue, William Townes and Bill Etherton. Virginia Nell Whitacre was elected President of Troup 143 of the National Thespians. Several more students became eligible during the latter part of the year.

The junior band practiced during the second hour when the band room was available. The junior organization served as a means for developing beginning players.

COACHES

Mr. Frank Bridges, varsity football coach for two years, has served our athletic department for four years. He has coached two championship teams and was largely responsible for a third. He began with a freshman squad and many of his players have made up his last two championship teams. Mr. Bridges conducted the class basketball tournament again this year and gave his services to the reserve basketball squad.

Mr. Merritt Allen, varsity basketball coach for two years, has also served our athletic department for four years. He began by teaching the basketball recruits the fundamentals of the game. This year he has realized his ambition, that of having a conference championship team and sending that team to the state tournament.

Both men coached the members of the track team. They were very much pleased with the large number of boys who reported for track.

FOOTBALL

CARBONDALE, 12—ELKVILLE, 13

The Carbondale Community High School football season was begun for the year nineteen hundred thirty-six on the night of September eighteenth. The Terriers met the Elkville Blue Birds on our own newly lighted field. The game proved to be a thriller with both teams starring on their offensive drives while their defense was rather weak.

CARBONDALE, 13—PINCKNEYVILLE, 6

Carbondale showed up much better in the game with Pinckneyville which was played there September twenty-fifth. The Terriers made several sweeping end-runs and strong drives through the line to score a touchdown and the extra point in the first part of the game. Pinckneyville opened up with an aerial attack which netted them a touchdown just before the end of the first half. In the second half Carbondale began a beautiful passing combination which showed the outstanding ability of Cherry and which ended in a touchdown. Lutz was injured on the second play of the game and did not see service until later in the season.

CARBONDALE, 8—WEST FRANKFORT, 0

The Terriers lived up to their reputation by beating West Frankfort on the night of October second. This was a very outstanding game for Cherry, Brooks, McMillan and Gill. Cherry played in his usual fine offensive style and in addition to this played an excellent defensive game; he blocked a punt which netted Carbondale two points on a safety. Gill saved the day by dropping Depper who had broken through the line and was past the safety man. Depper was on the thirty-yard line when Gill saw him, gave fast pursuit, and finally dropped him on the ten-yard line.

CARBONDALE, 30—HERRIN, 0

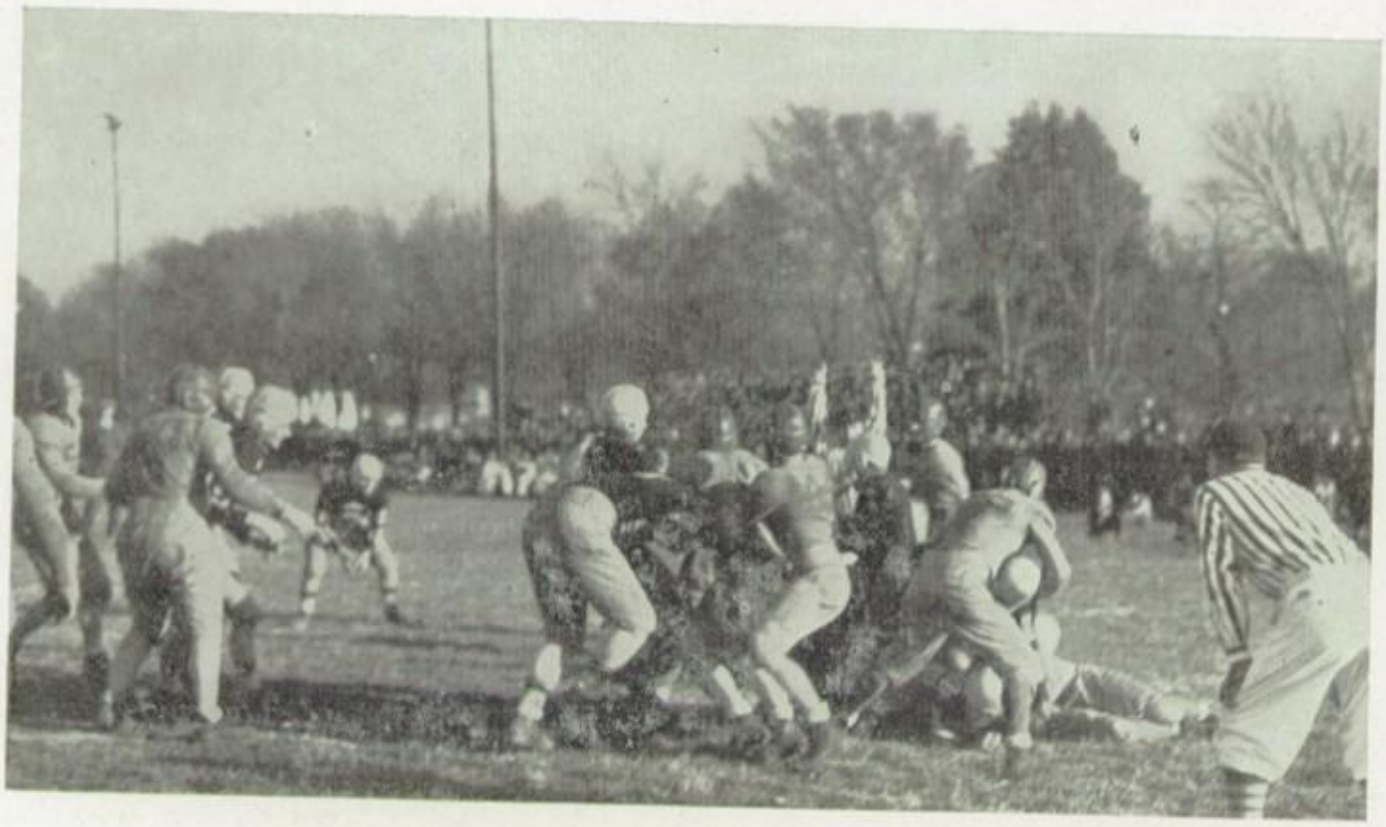
McMillan made a touchdown and Brooks kicked the extra point early in the game after runs and passes were made by Brooks, Cherry, and McMillan. Our first team showed such outstanding sportsmanship and playing ability that the second team received some experience. Herrin threatened our goal only once in the last few minutes of play.

CARBONDALE, 13—JOHNSTON CITY, 0

Many fumbles were made during this game due to the very wet field. Gill intercepted a pass and escaped many would-be tacklers in his unique way of sidestepping before he was finally downed after a sixty-yard gain. When the Terriers were in a good scoring position, they lost the ball. McMillan was the most outstanding player of the game. He made two touchdowns and gained many yards. Our linesmen usually do not get much credit from the ordinary observer but we were proud to have a very fine line this year composed mostly of juniors.

CARBONDALE, 13—HARRISBURG, 0

Lutz returned in this game after being out for almost a month. This was a very cold and wet night for a team to play a good ball game but the Terriers played a most outstanding game. They defeated the Harrisburg Bulldogs and eliminated their possibility of a tie for first place in the Egyptian Conference. The backs did some very fine blocking as did the line with McMillan doing quite a bit of the ball carrying. Gill did some very nice punting and ran the Bulldog's kicks back to favorable positions. Everyone played their best but due to the muddy field and the heavier Harrisburg men, Carbondale had some difficulty with their passes.



Murphy Game

CARBONDALE, 26—MARION 0

The squad was certainly good in this game. The teamwork and clean playing was decidedly outstanding. Cox and Crawshaw, juniors, played good ball. McMillan and Brooks, seniors, played exceptionally well. The Marion boys had great difficulty in getting past our line. Harris was Captain of the squad during this game which was the last one in which he played due to his age.

CARBONDALE, 33—MURPHYSBORO, 12

An Armistice Day crowd of over 2000 saw this annual contest which ended with Carbondale again victorious. It was surely a good day for football with the Terriers at their very best. Gill and Brooks did some outstanding ball carrying while the rest of the team did some beautiful blocking. Crawshaw made a very neat play when he snagged an enemy pass and streaked down the sideline like a racehorse to a touchdown. Due to our capable linesmen the Red Devils did not return our punts very far. Brooks played the best game of his career making a touchdown and several extra punts. Cox and Crawshaw did some fine ball carrying and blocking also.

CARBONDALE, 12—ANNA, 0

This was Anna's homecoming game and their boys surely wanted to win the game partly for this reason and partly because of the opposing team, Carbondale. It seems as though Anna and Carbondale were striking up an athletic rivalry similar to that of Carbondale and Murphysboro. Brooks and Cox gained the confidence of the Terriers by completing a pass for a touchdown in the first quarter. It was rather uncertain who had the upper edge until a pass from Brooks to Cherry netted the Terriers another touchdown. An Anna man broke away once with Gill the only person between him and the goal. This was a very anxious moment until Gill neatly nailed him on our thirty-five yarn line.

Coach Bridges should receive extra high honors for his work as a coach of two conference championship teams and as assistant coach for a third. He has molded a team which has already smashed all records and are not going to stop if they can possibly keep going for another year, like they have this last one. Many letter men will be back next year and may they have much success.

FOOTBALL SQUAD OF NINETEEN HUNDRED THIRTY-SIX

The squad this year has lived up to its reputation of the last two years and came through with the third consecutive championship team. Each player has contributed his part in making this record possible.

Much can be expected of our team next year although we will lose our two players with the most experience.

We are indeed proud of the cooperative spirit and sportsmanship of our players which has enabled them to win the Egyptian Conference Championship thus making a record for Carbondale Community High School.

BASKETBALL SQUAD OF NINETEEN HUNDRED THIRTY-SEVEN

In the first month of the season the basketball team played several non-conference games. This helped prepare them for the teamwork needed for the conference struggle.

Each game they played provided them with experience and confidence. They won all their conference games with the exception of one game with Marion.

Coach Allen, with the help of Mr. Bridges, built up a hard-fighting squad determined to win the conference. This they did. Our team took second honors in the regional tournament at Anna. The sectional tournament was held in our own gymnasium where we defeated Marion, Golconda, and Anna before enthusiastic and overflowing crowds.

Our team was led to victory by the valiant scoring of Cherry and the brilliant defense of Brooks who were our two most experienced players. The other offensive stars were Cox, Lutz, Ellis, and Hunsaker. The other defensive stars were Gill, Hill, and Crawshaw.

Our team unfortunately had to meet and to lose to a strong team from Collinsville in the state tournament in Champaign.

TRACK

Spring always suggested track season among the athletes and fans of this sport. After school track men could be seen perfecting their specialities.

A well conditioned field added to the interest in track.

Our track season was full, with our boys winning some of the most outstanding events in several of our meets, all of which were very tough encounters.

Outstanding tracksters of this year were Brooks, Lutz, Cherry, Gill, Robinson, McMillan, Crawshaw, Ellis, Smith, Cox, Chandler and Deason. These boys participated in the high jump, pole vault, hurdles, broad jumps, relays, sprints, middle-distance runs, and longer runs.

The team had a very good schedule this year going to the larger meets held in Southern Illinois.

—o—

FIELD DAY

Field day, an annual event, was again observed this year. The entire student body was dismissed to watch the events. Mr. Bridges was in charge.

The captains chosen to manage the events were: Franklin McMillan, Robert Brooks, seniors; Henry Charles Lutz, Gene Paul Crawshaw, juniors; Morris Burton, Raymond McGinnis, sophomores; Gordon Plater, Everett Goddard, freshmen.

Some of the entrces were as follows:

Running events—McMillan, Smith, Deason, West, Chandler, Crawshaw, Gill, Robinson, McBride, Hayes.

Pole vault—Cox, Lutz.

Hurdles—Brooks, Crawshaw, Ellis, Ragsdale.

Discuss—Ellis, Keller, Robinson, Chandler.

Javelin—Lutz, Smith, Hill, McMillan.

Broad jump—Smith, Brooks.

High jump—Brooks, Crawshaw, Hill.

The girls also played their parts in the event. They went out for the running-broad jumps, standing-broad jump, baseball throw, low hurdles, fifty-yard dash and running-high jump.

Some of the girls were Margaret Lou Wiley, Blanch Rose Clifford, Helen Pulley, Vernetta Hughes, and Joann Brooks.

Third row:
B. Glotfelty, A. Mills, M. Miller.

GIRLS' TUMBLING TEAM

The girls' tumbling team owes its success to Miss Springer. She has sponsored the team from the beginning four years ago.

Due to an emergency which made the gymnasium unavailable, the girls' tumbling team did not have as complete a schedule this year as it did last year.

The team has already shown its ability as an outstanding feature of our school and under the excellent leadership of Miss Springer it should continue its progress next year.

Scene 8

GIRLS' PHYSICAL EDUCATION

The physical education classes, taught by Miss Springer, have enjoyed many interesting hours. Miss Springer not only sponsored games, such as basketball, baseball, soccer, but she also gave the students posture tests.

Miss Springer taught the girls dancing once a week, which gave the girls an opportunity to learn some new steps.

This year physical education has been made a required four-year subject for graduation. The seniors were exempted from it this year but they formed a senior basketball team and played some of the physical education teams.

At the end of a very interesting and enjoyable year, experienced in the new gymnasium, the physical education classes wish to dedicate the use of the fully equipped gymnasium next year to the new students in physical education.

INTRAMURAL ATHLETICS

Major sports have always played an important part in our school life, however, mention should be made of the intramural athletics in our school. These were carried on chiefly through the boys' physical education classes.

Boxing and wrestling, two sports that gave the boys a chance to exhibit their skill and strength, always were well favored among the boys. A new game, badminton, has been introduced into the school and is rapidly becoming very popular. Due to the flood refugees, boys' inter-class basketball was interrupted and failed to continue because of other conflicting events. However a picked junior team showed their superiority over a likewise chosen senior five in a tilt during chapel.

Tumbling was continued from previous years with greater eagerness than ever. Hicks, a member of the Normal Tumbling Team, combined his skill with Mr. Hanson of our own faculty to teach the boys many new tricks. The girls also continued under the able direction of Miss Springer, to show the boys that they, too, could tumble a bit. Both teams visited a few of the surrounding towns and appeared on various programs.

Tennis, a sport started last year with the building of our new courts, showed promise of being one of the best liked minor sports of the school. Mr. Hanson planned several meets with other schools and the team showed great promise. Last year our team won the district contest and thereby earned the right to go to the state tennis meet at Champaign. Cherry, Haege, and Cox who played last year were again on this year's team.

Scene I

TO THE FOUR-HUNDRED-FORTY-THREE

Through each of us the other sees a world
Else hid from common sight. We each provide
All others with a portal open wide
Through which to see life's banners all unfurled.
You've been the magic glass through which I've peered
To see a living world far fairer than
I'd ever dreamed was made for mortal man.
A world that's banished every thought I've feared.
My knowing you has let me see this field
Which lies beyond the sight of seeing eyes,
Deep in the realm of artless pleasure lies,
Where deeds are done but for the joys they yield.
I'm truly grateful for this view. My prayer:
Through me you've seen that life's both rich and fair.

—SETH A. FESSENDEN.

BACKSTAGE

NOTICE: To stagehands of C. C. H. S.

'Tis quality—not quantity—
And though our jokes are few,
You may be very sure, my friend,
These incidents are true.

Miss Wilhelm: "The whistle blew ending the game and pandemonia broke loose."

Francis Claunch: "Who is this guy pandemonia?"

Joann Baird (reading): "He is the only one."

Mr. Draper (musingly): "Lovely to think so."

Shirley Kucher: "Now, Mr. Hanson! Just what will our history examination cover?

Mr. Hanson (very patiently): "The first one hundred and one pages, Shirley."

Mr. Hanson: "Can't you justify Arnold Bennett's treason at all?"

Raymond Henderson: "Well, he was having financial trouble—and he got married——"

Louise Hall: "My head hurts."

Mr. Gross: "All this DIAL talking cause it?"

Louise: "Oh, no. I got it last hour in chemistry."

Mr. Fessenden: "What is symmetry?"

Jim Montgomery: That's a place where they bury people."

La Dean Martin: "Mr. Hanson, which book does Dean want to borrow?"

Mr. Hanson: "Dean wants to borrow my history book."

La Dean: "Then may I borrow your civics book?"

Mr. Hanson: "Yes, does anyone want to borrow my pencil?"

Bill Etherton: "I would if I had some paper."

Mr. Fessenden (ending a very dull lecture on the conduct of the class): "And if I'm not here tomorrow or next week that's where I'll be."

Several voices: "Where? Where? Where?"

Mr. Fessenden: "Top of page two."

Virginia Whitacre (typing a DIAL copy): "How do you separate marriage?"

Bob Brooks: "I'd just knock her down and leave her."

Mr. Cross: "Bill, how about giving the DIAL the senior money? Write us out a check."

Bill Morefield: "I can't. You'll have to ask Joann. She's the treasurer this year."

Vernetta Hughes: "What's the matter with you?"

Mary Ellen Mangum: "You mean 'What's the matter with 'youse?' "

Mr. Fessenden (handing book to Irene): "We'll begin reading now."

Willie Ruth (turning pages rapidly): "With John Brown's Body?"

Mr. Fessenden: "No, with Irene."

Mary Alice Smith: "Well, I know I'm Indian. My daddy said my ancestors were ALL-REDS!"

Mr. Draper: "Well how about it folks? Are you having trouble getting started, or are you about to get into it?"

Carl White: "I'm about to get into it all right."

Mr. Fessenden (working on set): "Harry, what color is the woodwork in your house?"

Harry, Jr. (who lives just across the street): "I donno'. Why, want to borrow it?"

Mr. Gross to Margaret Lou Wiley late to class: "Margaret Lou! In the future will you please manage to stop what you are doing in order to get to class on time?"

Margaret Lou: "I couldn't do that, Mr. Gross.

Mr. Gross: "And why not?"

Margaret Lou: "I was walking down the hall, Mr. Gross."

It happened one third hour:
Miss Springer: "I want to buy a hot-dog."
Student salesman: "Where's your nickel?"
Miss Springer: "I want it on credit? I can't get into my room."
Student salesman: "What?"
Miss Springer: "Mr. DeVore's in there. He has a club."

At a basketball game William Townes was holding Bobby Neber on his knee. Mrs. Neber: "Willy, you'll make a good father."
Vernetta Hughes: "Yes, or will-ie?"

Mr. Fessenden (ending another very dull lecture): "Now, how do we stand?"
Harpo: "On our feet."

Louise Maze (presenting play review in speech: "This is a comedy."
Ruth Bernice: "You're telling us."

Mr. Draper (in English Grammar studying maxims): "Rats abandon a sinking ship."
Willie Ruth: "I thought everybody did."

Helen Pulley (speaking of Joann): And there is no end to her feats."

Mr. Gross: "Dog-gone these typists!"
Ruby Lee: "Well, I didn't type that."
Mr. Gross: "I know it, you're not a typist."
Ruby Lee: "Yes, that's what I've found out."

IN APPRECIATION

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to those business men who have helped with the publication of the DIAL of nineteen hundred thirty-seven, through advertisements.

Courtesy is one of the traits of a successful business man. Certainly, the business men of Carbondale have this characteristic.

It is our desire that the advertising section of the DIAL be interesting, original, and worthwhile.

We also wish to thank the parents who have made the DIAL possible through their consideration concerning subscriptions. And to the faculty who have been unusually sympathetic to our cause and to the student body who really appreciate the value of the DIAL, we are most grateful.
